Supervisor Ovitt announces funding for Fourth District projects

The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors today approved funding for the establishment of an affordable Health Care Clinic to serve Chino, Montclair, and nearby unincorporated areas, as well as improvements to the Old Schoolhouse Museum in Chino.

The projects, which were first introduced by former Supervisor Fred Aguiar and continued by current Supervisor Gary Ovitt, will be funded by more than $50,000 in Community Development Block Grants.

"I am happy these projects received Board approval. I'm proud my staff was able to see these projects to fruition," said Supervisor Ovitt, whose Fourth District includes the cities of Chino, Chino Hills, Montclair, and Ontario, and adjacent unincorporated areas. "I am committed to working hard to obtain funding for more projects like this in the Fourth District."

The Health Care Clinic will be operated in cooperation with the City of Chino. The modular building, which will be located at Monte Vista Park, will provide affordable health care services for the benefit of residents living in Chino, Montclair, and surrounding unincorporated areas. The total cost for this project is $44,000.

Funding approved for rehabilitation improvements to the Old Schoolhouse Museum will total $6,100. The project, of which the City of Chino and the Chino Valley Historical Society will participate, will provide local historic resources and educational services for the benefit of residents living in Chino and the surrounding West Valley communities of the Fourth District.

"I am pleased my fellow Board members supported these projects." Supervisor Ovitt said. "I am confident I will continue to enjoy their support for such projects in the future."
