Ovitt Appoints Chino Hills Resident to the County Workforce Investment Board

San Bernardino- The San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors voted today in support of Supervisor Gary Ovitt's request to appoint Chino Hills resident Peter Rogers to serve a two-year term on the San Bernardino County Workforce Investment Board.

"The Workforce Investment Board is a critical component in making the Inland Empire an economic powerhouse and it is an honor to be a member of this commission," stated Rogers.

Mr. Rogers, a 19-year resident of Chino Hills is owner of Peter Rogers Photography. He is a seven-year member of the Chino Hills Parks and Recreation Commission and is currently serving as chairman of the commission.

"I am honored to have Peter serve the residents of San Bernardino County in such an important position," Ovitt said. "His commitment to the community and the small business expertise he brings to the commission makes him a great choice for this appointment."

The Workforce Investment Board's responsibility is to coordinate resources that will effectively satisfy labor needs in the business community. Recently the Board of Supervisors identified economic development as a critical component in the future of San Bernardino County. Local economist Dr. John Husing was commissioned to study the economic outlook of the county and make recommendations to the Board in reference to restructuring the county's Economic and Development Department.
