Ovitt Hosts Community Forum on Constituent Concerns

Chino – County Supervisor Gary Ovitt hosted a forum at Briggs Fundamental School, located in the unincorporated area of Chino, to meet with residents and discuss county related issues affecting the community.

"I want residents of the 4th District to be aware of services their tax dollars pay for and how they can utilize them," Ovitt stated. "In addition, I am committed to protecting our children and I want to discuss public safety with parents in the community."

Supervisor Ovitt discussed soon to be announced projects in the unincorporated area that will assist with students' safety around Briggs Fundamental School. The proposed projects will include improvements in infrastructure such as additional sidewalks, stop signs, and curbs around the school campus.

"As a former school teacher, I understand the safety concerns that accompany our schools," Ovitt said. "Additional crossing guards, curbs, gutters and sidewalks are ways we can help address those concerns."

In addition, Supervisor Ovitt listened to added concerns from community members. Issues such as additional park space and public safety we also discussed.

"For me to be an effective County Supervisor, I must listen to concerns of the community," stated Ovitt. "After all, I work for the residents of the Fourth District."

This forum was one of many education and community related forums that the Supervisor will be conducting throughout the district.
