

Free Workshop for Teens

adolescent self-injury

cutting; scratching; carving; branding; burning etc.

November 6, 2009
4:00 pm -5:00pm

Please join us while we discuss teens who self-injure/cut. Enjoy a safe environment to learn about why someone might self-injure and openly discuss personal experiences with self-injury or friends who self-injure. This free workshop will be taught by Susan Hagerman of Loma Linda University Behavioral Medical Center.

It is important to understand the reasons behind and signs of self-injury and how to effectively talk to friends who self-injure or how and to where to get help.

The workshop will be held at:
De Anza Community and Teen Center:
1405 Fern Street, Ontario CA 91764

Please RSVP to workshops@we-reachout.org or at 909-982-8641

REACH OUT

LOMA LINDA UNIVERSITY
BEHAVIORAL MEDICINE CENTER

CITY OF ONTARIO

For more information on this workshop, please contact Reach Out at (909) 982-8641
For more information on teen self-injury, please contact LLUBMC at (909) 558-9200