The Great California ShakeOut — the annual statewide earthquake drill — will be held at 10:20 a.m. on Thursday, October 20. Mountain residents should be prepared to drop, cover and hold on. (Contributed Photo).

Mountain Communities – Mountain residents should know what to do before, during and after a major earthquake. So, on Thursday, October 20, local residents and school students will be participating in the Great California ShakeOut earthquake drill.

GREAT CALIFORNIA SHAKEOUT

The ShakeOut drill, first held in California in 2008, was created to encourage people and organizations to be prepared in order to survive and recover when the next big earthquake happens.

More than 10 million people in California and nearly 39 million worldwide are expected to participate in the 2016 Great California ShakeOut.

Participating mountain residents should drop, cover and hold on under a desk or table, or sit against an interior wall away from glass and heavy furniture. It's all part of the practice and preparation for when an actual earthquake hits.

The annual Great California Shake Out earthquake drill on Thursday, October 20, at 10:20 a.m. will involve more than 10 million people. Listen to Z107.7 as radio personality Pat Michaels leads you in the Shake Out earthquake drill. Before Thursday, make sure you, your family, and co-workers or students know how to protect themselves in an earthquake. Hint: Drop, Cover, and Hold On. Make sure that your disaster plans are current. Practice makes perfect, so register to participate at ShakeOut.org/california/register (although you don't need to register to participate). ShakeOut.org also has information on how to prepare for an earthquake.
