HESPERIA — A woman and another couple were injured following a crash Thursday morning, authorities said.

The crash occurred on Oakwood Avenue near Sycamore Street just before 10:30 a.m. Thursday. Hesperia Sheriff's Station spokeswoman Karen Hunt said the crash involved a Lincoln sedan driven by a 65-year-old woman and a Toyota Tundra pickup truck occupied by a man and woman in their 40s.

The woman in the Lincoln was headed west on Sycamore Street where she reportedly ran a stop sign. The Lincoln was then broadsided by the Toyota Tundra, which was headed north on Oakwood Avenue, Hunt said.

The collision pushed the Lincoln through a fence and onto a yard of a vacant property on Oakwood Avenue, while the Toyota Tundra overturned and also ended up on the property.

San Bernardino County Fire Department officials responded to the scene after the woman in the Lincoln became trapped and required extrication. She was successfully extricated in about 10 minutes, authorities said, and was immediately taken to Desert Valley Hospital where a Mercy Air helicopter would then take her to Loma Linda University Medical Center.

Hunt said the woman was believed to have suffered moderate to major injuries. The couple in the Tundra suffered minor injuries and were taken by ground ambulance to Arrowhead Regional Medical Center, officials said.

Oakwood Avenue was closed from Sycamore Street to Sequoia Avenue right after the crash occurred, Hunt said, and was expected to remain closed for another hour as authorities investigated the scene.
